INDIA DEBATE POSTPONED

Present Negotiations In Delhi Cited As Reason For Decision

LONDON, Oct. 8, (Reuter): The two-day India debate in the House of Commons is likely to be postponed until the beginning of he new session of Parliament early in November. I learn from authoritative quarters, writes Fraser Wighton, Reuter's political correspondent.

Discussions are taking place between the Government and Opposition leaders and an announcement will be made in due course.

The reason for the suggested postponment is the widespread feeling that nothing should be done to prejudice the negotiations now proceeding at Delhi, from which it is generally hoped an agreement may emerge enabling the Muslim League to enter the Provincial Government.

Mr. Richard A Butler, the Former Education Minister and one of the Conservative Shadow Cabinet, told me his Party had been anxious that the transference of power should not be to a Government in which all main elements of India's life were not represented.

"We trust that the negotiations now going on with the Muslim League will be successful and that then the Constituent Assembly will be set up in such a way that a fair solution of the whole problem may be found", said Mr. Butler.

Lord Beveridge (formerly Sir William Beveridge) author of the famous Security Plan and a leading Liberal Peer said: "I am glad to think that the dreams that many people have dreamed of Indian independence are going to be realised.

The Labour back-bencher, Mr. W. G. Cove, a longstanding champion of Indian nationalist aspirations, said he could express his present feeling in a sentence. Carry on for Indian unity and ignore Mr. Churchill."

Lord Faringdon, one of the younger Labour Peers, said that he hoped this time there really was to be a solution and that from it" Independent India will emerge by agreement with all parties"

Captain Reymond Blackburn, a prominent Labour back-bencher, expressed his personal belief that it was in the interests both of India and the world that Britain should help maintaining the security of India until such time as a World Organisation came into being for the same object.

Mr. Quintin Hogg, Leader of the Young Tory Reform Group, declared that there was no party in the country which did not want to give the presents evenis a fair trial and which would do anything to prejudice this trial.

DELHI DECISION DELAYED

Mahatma Strikes Note Of Caution

CONGRESS-LEAGUE TALKS IN CRUCIAL STAGE

Bhopal Hopes For Results In Two Or Three Days

(From Our Correspondent)

NEW DELHI, Oct. 8. The Muslim League is likely to enter the Interim Government with agreement with the Congress if possible and without it if necessary, I understand. And the tussle is still on over what each party regards as fundamentals.

There are two issues still looming large over which no agreement is believed to have been reached.

The two issues are respectively, status of the Congress and the League vis-a-vis Muslims and joint responsibility.

NON-STOP ACTIVITY CONTINUES

As already reported the Congress is prepared to recognise the Muslim League as most representative of Muslims provided the League in its turn recognised the Congress as the most democratic body representative of vast majority of all elements in the national life of India. As for joint responsibility, the League is prepared to agree to joint consultations but not joint responsibility, which, according to the League, will be tantamount to "Hindu Raj". The Congress, on the other hand lays great emphasis on joint responsibility and is willing to guarantee that decisions by Cabinet be by common consent. Nonstop political activity still continues and some tangible results might be known by to-morrow.

Parleys At Bhangi Colony

The Associated Press of India says:

Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, Maulana Abul Kalam Azad and Mr. C. Rajagopalachari met Mahatma Gandhi this morning and held prolonged discussions.

The Nawab of Bhopal, Chancellor of the Chamber of Princes, saw Mahatma Gandhi at noon today. Later he joined the Conference which Pandit Nehru and other leaders had with Mahatma Gandhi.

Dr. Rajendra Prasad was also present

Following his conference with Congress Leaders and Mahatma Gandni the Nawab of Bhopal drove to Mr. Jinnah's residence and had a 45 minutes' talk with him.

The Nawab of Bhopal arrived at Bhangi Colony at 7 p.m. to meet Mahatma Gandhi.

Pandit Nehru called on Mahatma Gandhi at 7-85 p.m. to-day and was with him till 8-15 p.m.

Members of the Congress Parliamentary Sub-Committee met Mahatma Gandhi again in the evening. The Nawab of Bhopal was also present.

The Nawab of Bhopal left the meeting at 8-35 p.m. but others continued their talk.

The Nawab indicated in reply to a press correspondent that a definite outcome of the negotiations might be expected in two or three days.

After the Nawab of Bhopal had left, the Congress Parliamentary Sub-committee held discussions till 9-15 p.m.

The United Press of India was able to gather from very reliable sources that this afternoon's conference at Gandhiji's Camp was concerned with drafting a joint statement which is expected to be issued by the Presidents of the two major political organisations in India, incorporating the lines of the settlement on broad and fundamental points which are reported to have been arrived at in the course of the Nehru-Jinnah discussions.

It is further learnt that this draft will be communicated to Mr. Jinnan through the Nawab of Bhopal who has been serving as the mediator between the Congress and the League. This draft may also form the basis of another Nehru-Jinnah meeting tonight or to-morrow morning at the residence of the Nawab of Bhopal.

A meeting of the Congress Working Committee is likely to be held shortly at Delhi to consider the various issues that would arise in view of the Congress League settlement on the political front.

Soviet Protest To America

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. (Reuter): The Soviet Embassy has delivered a Note to the State Department protesting against the detention of the Russian Ambassador, M. Nikolai Novikov, at La Guardia air field, New York, upon his arrival last Friday from Moscow, a State Department spokesman disclosed to-day.

It was reported that the Ambassador was detained by the customs officials after he had declined to sign a customs declaration.

The protest was also believed to concern the fact that he was not allowed to communicate with the Soviet Consul-General and the State Department from the airport.

It is understood that M. Novikov complained that he was detained for nearly one hour in the La Guardia field customs office while inspectors tried to persuade him to sign a statement that his baggage contained nothing illegal.

Confirming the receipt of the Soviet protest, the Acting Secretary of State, Mr. Dean Acheson, told a press conference that M. Novikov said he was subjected to treatment inconsistent with usual diplomatic courtesy. Investigation was already under way, and the immigration authorities had been asked to report to the State Department.

Mr. Acheson said that the Soviet protest would not be published until a reply had been made and arrangements to publish both the Notes together had been worked out.

Satyagraha Gathers Force In Goa

Portuguese Govt. Dare Not Touch Dr. Lohia, Says British Consul

Information received from Goa says that the Council of Action of the National Congress (Goa) has decided to intensify the Satyagraha Movement.

Satyagraha will now be offered every day.

"Portuguese Government dare not touch Dr. Lohia. They do not know what they are doing", remarked Mr. Kyte, the British Consul in Goa, when he was approached by Sjt. Nath Pai for reliable information about Dr Lohia. Mr. Kyte has promised to make full inquiries.

SATYAGRAHA & ARRESTS

The Satyagraha Movement under the National Congress (Goa) is gaining momentum daily and in spite of all the Portuguese oppression new Satyagrahis are coming forward.

Mr. V. V. Vaidya, who offered Satyagraha on 2nd inst.—the Gandhi Jayanti Day—at Quepem, has been taken to Panjim jail. Mr. Narayan Naik and Mr. P. P. Shirodker have been taken to Aguada Fort, and are kept in a cell with Mr. Kakodker.

On 4th inst. Mr. Halvankerm a student worker from Goa, offered Satyagraha at Fonda. On the 5th inst. Mr. Bhende defied ban on speech at Decholi; on 6th Mr. Manohar Kuncolinker and on 7th Mr. Kamat offered Satyagraha at Mapuca and Vasco-de-Gama respectively. All the Satyagrahis were arrested and have been kept in local jails.

Dr. Lohia has been kept in a solitary cell at Aguada Fort and none is allowed to interview him.

NEW TYPE OF CANTONMENT

Plans for the future housing of the Indian Army are now being considered by Armed Forces Headquarters One of the suggestions takes the form of a new type of cantonment, a scale model of which has just been inspected by the Commander-in-Chief in India, Field-Marshal Sir Claude Auchinleck. Covering an area of approximately 25 square miles, this cantonment is designed to house the Headquarters of a completely self-contained division with its brigade and battalion headquarters as well as various ancillary units.

Disturbances Cause Exodus From City

Six Lakhs Of Persons Booked From Byculla And V.T. In 20 Days: Relief Trains Run To Clear Rush Of Traffic

BOMBAY, Tuesday. "Between 6 p.m. and 11-30 p.m. the only incident reported to the police headquarters was one of stone-throwing in the Kamatipura area of the city. There, the police fired one round to stop the mischief from going beyond control" states a press not issued by the Director of Information Bombay Government, to-night.

The press note adds "the last knife attack of the day occurred at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Twenty-five arrests were made in connection with to-day's stabbing incidents alone

"Four more persons have been stabbed, one of whom is dead. Among the three injured is a boy", says a press note issued by the Director of Information this afternoon

"The attacks occurred in Dongri, Golpitha Worli and Dadar areas. No other incidents have been reported till 5 p.m.

HOME MINISTER VISITS KURLA

A press note issued by the Director of Information, Bombay earlier stated,

"The general situation in Bombay continues to be a bit easier Two cases of stabbing have been reported between 6 a.m. and midday. One of which probably occurred before sunrise. The incidents were reported from Mahalaxmi and Parel area

"Five persons were injured by stone throwing in a small-scale skirmish between two parties in the Cotton Green area of Sewri.

"The Home Minister, accompanied by the Commissioner of Police visited Kurla which reported three fatal stabbing cases on Sunday night."

Exodus From Bombay.

During the first 20 days of the disturbances in Bombay, from September 1, more than 2,00,000 persons booked their passage from Bombay by the G.I.P. Railway for destinations mostly in the Konka according to official estimates

While the exodus due to outbreak of communal disturbances placed a strain on the long distance communications, the imposition of the curfew and the consequent suspension of the City's bus and tram traffic, led to an increased rush on the suburban railways. To cope with this extra traffic, special booking and supervisory arrangements had to be introduced, particularly at Victoria Terminus, Byculla and Dadar stations, and additional relief trains were run to clear the rush of traffic.

In the first week of September, an exodus of Konkan passengers started and to meet this extra traffic, special trains were run to Poona. From September 1 to September 20 as many as 5,93,918 passengers were booked from the Victoria and Byculla stations as compared with 3,79,394 in the corresponding period of the previous year. To cope with this increased traffic, five additional trains in the Up direction and six in the Down

Industrial Relations Bill: All Readings May Be Finished Off To-day

(From Our Special Representative)

POONA Oct. 8. Proceeding at a breakneck speed in a thin House disclosing visible signs of waning intetest, the Bombay Legislative Assembly ploughed its way through 116 amendments to the Industrial Relations Bill appearing on the Order Paper today.

Eighty six including the most contentious portions are finished and the whole Bill will be over tomorrow. And although the House sat for an extra hour today, there is the possibility of a night sitting to complete both the Second and Third Reading of the Bill tomorrow itself.

There is a sense of hurry about the whole proceedings of the House. Government has now definitely decided to break up early here and reassemble at Bombay on the 28th. The Labour Member wants to get off to Delhi to attend the Conference of Labour Ministers there even earlier.

Meanwhile the Industrial Relations Bill as amended by the Assembly must go to the Council (Upper House) and if there are any alterations there, it has to come back to the Assembly. Hence the hurry

NIGHT SESSION TO-DAY?

When at the end of the day's sitting Premier Khar suggested longer sitting hours to-morrow because of the for-going reasons Mr. S. A. Dange, for one said that he was not prepared to put himself to any inconvenience for the convenience of the Upper House. But the Speaker Mr. Firoz said that since they had to wait till the Bill came back from the Council, it was for their own convenience and hinted that there would be a night session to-morrow if necessary.

The one person who was perhaps most affected by the breathless speed of the proceedings to-day was Sir Sohrab Saklatwala. It seemed as if those clauses, amendments and amendments to amendments whirling past, left him rather dazed. At one stage, he even moved somebody else's amendment and had to be told so by the Speaker. One hour after the normal closing time, when Sir Sohrab had moved a series of amendments suggesting that appeals should be to the High Court from the decisions of the Labour Courts, Mr. Cockaine his colleague from the Progress Party asked the Speaker if somebody else could explain the reasons for Sir Sohrab's amendments on the morrow as that gentleman was leaving Poona. The Speaker's unexpected reply was to ask Sir Sohrab to make his remarks at once. "In that case I withdraw my submission Sir," said the discomfitted Mr. Cockaine amidst laughter.

The grinding business of flooding through amendments made the proceedings largely formal and there was very little of what could be called a debate except on two subjects when the powers of the Labour Officer and the provision relating to compulsory arbitration.

"OBNOXIOUS PERSON"

Calling the Labour Officer "a head jobber", "a useless piece of furniture", "an obnoxious person", "an obstructive institution", "an unmitigated nuisance", Mr. S. A. Dange expressed himself fundamentally opposed to the institution of a Labour Officer It was undemocratic to let the Labour Officer intervene when there was a union. His intervention would stifle the growth of trade unionism. He moved a series of amendments to limit and circumscribe the Labour Officer's powers. The millowners' representatives also wanted some limitations on the powers of the Labour Officer although not to the same extent as Mr. Dange.

NANDA'S REPLY

Mr. Gulzarilal Nanda, Labour Minister, replying to this part of the debate pointed out that the Labour Officer had been very helpful, very useful. That was the testimony of the workers themselves. Unions had come into existence and had grown into representative unions while he was there. He came in only when the workers elected him to represent them. The workers were not forced to take their grievances to him. But when they needed his help and wanted to

SOVIET VIEW REJECTED

American & Br. Memoranda Control Of Dardanelles

LONDON, Oct. 8 (Reuter): Britain and the United States are believed to have taken the same line in their memoranda to Turkey rejecting the Soviet view that future control of the Black Sea Straits is a matter for the Black Sea Powers alone, writes Reuter's diplomatic correspondent.

A Foreign Office spokesman, this morning, disclosed that Britain and the United States have been in consultation over the latest Soviet Note to Turkey—delivered on September 24—and it is believed, discussions took place informally between the British Foreign Minister, Mr. Ernest Bevin, and the United States Secretary of State, Mr James Byrnes, as well as between their departments.

The memoranda, though taking the same line, are not thought to be identical.

PARIS CONFERENCE SPEEDING UP

Smuts Says That It Has Achieved Large Measure Of Success

PARIS, Oct. 8 (Reuter): The Paris Conference will meet three times in plenary session to-day—at 9-30 in the morning, 3-30 in the afternoon and 9-30 at night local time. Under the 'Big Four' proposals for ending the Conference by October 15, three days have been allotted to discussions of committee recommendations in the draft Italian treaty. This means that voting on 78 articles and nine annexes must be completed by Wednesday night.

General Jan Smuts, South African Premier, told the Conference yesterday that it had achieved a larger measure of success than had been anticipated.

MUST NOT BE ANOTHER VERSAILLES

Senator Tom Connally, Senatorial Adviser to Mr. James Byrnes, United States Secretary of State, supported the Committee recommendations on the Trieste issue urging the plenary session to adopt them "as an expression of its own judgment."

When the session was resumed in the evening, M. Dmitri Manuilsky (Ukraine), declared, "This Conference must not repeat the mistakes of the Versailles which, by taking Venezia Giulia from Yugoslavia, left a bleeding wound in the hearts of Yugoslav peoples." The United States and Britain had "ignored Yugoslavia's justified and well-founded claims" in Venezia Giulia and Trieste, he said.

The Chinese delegation had supported the French proposal for the statute of Trieste because it provided "the minimum working basis by which the Security Council can discharge its responsibility", Dr. Quo Tai Chi (China), declared.

"Abyssinia is confident that the final peace settlement will recognise, as has this Conference, the force and justice" of Abyssinian claims, Ato Akliloo Abte Wold (Abyssinia), told the Conference.

DIVIDED VIEWS

PARIS, Oct. 7 (Reuter): Reactions to General Jan Smuts' statement that the Paris Conference has not failed—unquestionably the highlight of the first Plenary Session in the final stage of the Conference—are sharply divided, writes Sylvain Mangeot, Reuter's Diplomatic Correspondent.

A majority of senior delegates discussing General Smuts' speech agreed that in placing the work of the Conference in its proper perspective against the background of post-war relationships between the Allies, the South African Premier had displayed the clear sightedness of an experienced elder statesman whose detachment from small issues enables him to distinguish between wood and trees. Others—and notably some of the younger delegates upon whom has fallen the burden of many weeks of tedious committee work—criticised General Smuts judgment of relative success of the Conference. They argued that there was little evidence from the work of the committees to warrant his assumption that the Conference had discovered an acceptable solution to the riddle of Trieste.

Whether or not General Smuts' optimism on this score is justified will depend upon two developments.

First, whether the Russian delegation in Paris accepts without further opposition the recommendations of the Italian Political Committee on Trieste when it is voted in the Plenary Session day after to-morrow, and secondly, whether Russia will accept as binding any recommendation on Trieste which emerges from the Paris Conference when the Big Four draft the final version of the Italian treaty.

KEY TO SOVIET FOREIGN POLICY

The answer to these two questions, in the opinion of conference delegates and observers here, is the key to one of Russia's most important problems in the field of foreign policy. On the one hand, Russia is already bound by the principle of internationalisation which she accepted last July in the Conference of Foreign Ministers. This broad principle has now been filled in by the more detailed recommendations of the Italian Committee of the Paris Conference. If these are adopted as conference recommendations by two-thirds majority, Russia can only continue to oppose them in the knowledge that she is virtually applying a veto to obstruct the majority wish of her Allies.

On the other hand, if she accepts the majority wish she is running counter to Yugoslavia, generally reckoned as her closest partner and Ally in the post-war pattern of Eastern Europe.

General Smuts to-day virtually assumed that Russia would choose a wider loyalty by accepting the Trieste solution to which the three western powers have already given their approval. If he proves correct in his assumption, there will be few delegates here who will disagree with his estimate that the Paris Conference has achieved more than was apparent to many of those who have taken part in it from day to day.

GREECE TO PROTEST

ATHENS, Oct. 8 (Reuter): Flags are to be flown at half mast and shops, factories and other establishments closed to-morrow when a protest meeting will be held here against the rejection of Greek claims at the Paris Peace Conference.

Workers and professional organisations are planning to attend the meeting in a body carrying flags draped with crepe.

Messages protesting against the Paris decisions are being received from all parts of Greece by the Greek Foreign Office and Allied embassies in Athens the Greek News Agency reported.

The Joint Passive Resistance Council of Natal and Transvaal met in Durban last night and reviewed the recent suggestion of the South African Indian Congress to ask for a Round Table Conference.

A. Naidoo, the Council called on them to resign as S.A.I.C. delegates and proceed to UNO Assembly on behalf of the Joint Passive Resistance Council.

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, one the three men acquitted by the International Military Tribunal, told Reuter today that he was quite prepared to face a properly constituted "Denazification" court.

STOMACH DISORDERS

Swiftly respond to this triumph of modern medical research

LASTING RELIEF EVEN IN SERIOUS CASES

Among the great advances in medical research, an outstanding achievement is PLESOX — a safe, natural treatment for stomach disorders. Whether stomach troubles are slight or serious, their root cause is mostly a disturbance of Nature's mechanism for protecting the delicate stomach lining. Without drugs, PLESOX gives quick relief and lasting benefit because it acts as Nature does, spreading a soothing, protective film over the stomach lining and upper duodenum so that Nature's repair forces can get to work and Nature's own protective processes can be resumed.

Act now! Why suffer a day longer and run risks besides? Acidity, Indigestion, Biliousness, etc., are not only painful, troublesome and debilitating but often lead to graver stomach disorders. PLESOX is as safe and beneficial for young children as for adults. Help your stomach to heal itself. Take PLESOX now. Read what this sufferer says:

"No genuine relief until I tried Plesox"

"After some three years intense discomfort and chronic sickness from acute indigestion, I have at last found some lasting relief from Plesox . . . I have tried many remedies. All are the same — quick relief, no cure . . . I've been X-rayed, pounded and massaged but have had no genuine relief until I tried Plesox . . . since when I have felt quite different and in better health in every way."

CORPORATION AND B.E.S.T. SERVICES

Move For Facilities For Taking Over

BOMBAY, Tuesday.

A resolution asking the Corporation to exercise the right reserved to them in the Deed of concession executed between the Corporation and the B.E.S.T. Co. to purchase on 7th August 1947, the "combined undertaking" of the Co. and that the Commissioner be requested to approach the Government of Bombay to facilitate the passing of legislative measures necessary for transacting the deal was moved at the Municipal Corporation to-day by Mr. S. K. Patil. The Mayor, Mr. M. I. Rowjee presided.

The resolution further asked the Corporation to take over the Electric and the Bus Services of the Co. also and that a Special Committee be appointed to expedite the report.

Dr. Collaco strongly opposed the resolution on the ground that private ownership was more effective than State ownership. The Bombay Port Trust, the Telephone Co., the Schools Committee and the Standing Committee were standing examples of it.

The Mayor interrupting at this point remarked: "Is it a vote of censure against the Committees?"

Dr. Collaco replied that he was only trying to prove his case.

He further said that instead of having too many irons in the fire the Municipality should look to those concerns and projects already in hands.

Mr. N Bharucha supporting the resolution said that the speech of Dr. Collaco was misconceived. The Municipality would have no difficulty in managing the Co., and it would never regret for taking over the concern.

Mr. Mohanlal Desai also supported the resolution.

The House was adjourned without the debate being completed

MOVEMENT CONTROL PREVAIL IN REPLAY

BOMBAY, Tuesday.

Movement Control	2
Rangers	1

There was not much to chose between Movement Control and Rangers when they met this evening in the Western India Open Championships. The services team prevailed by the odd goal in three, but the Rangers had an equal say in the proceedings, in fact they opened the scoring in the second half when Adam converted a Solo effort.

The lead was quickly negatived by Stone who was playing well this evening. Centre-forward Thomson netted what proved to be the decider to complete the tally. The winners lost a couple of good chances when Ambrose over hit a header and Stone hit the cross-bar from point-blank range.

Amongst the losers Hawkswell was his usual brilliant self.

The Teams:

Movement Control—Gunn; Stocks and Dawson; Metcalfe, Robinson and Goldfinch; Gardner, Stone, Thomson, Ambrosi and Young.

Rangers—Hawkswell; Poole and F. Ross; Wakefield, G. Ross and Deatkar; Shanahan, Tully, Adams, Woodcock and Palin.

Referee—Swami.

A THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

We must be courteous to a man as we are to a picture, which we are willing to give the advantage of a good light.

The Bombay Chronicle

WOMEN'S PROGRESS

Mrs. Hansa Mehta, President of the All-India Women's Conference and India's representative at the Women's Commission appointed by the U.N.O., expressed, in her address to the Berar Women's Conference, a hope that the National Government of India would lead the rest of the world in implementing the basic principle of equality between man and man and man and woman in the various spheres of human enterprise." That hope may appear fantastic to those who think only of the long subjection of India to Britain and the social and economic subjection of women in India for centuries past. But the very subjection of India demanded the full co-operation of women in India's struggle for freedom. Gandhiji's dual programme of constructive work and Satyagraha and his faith in women's capacity for participation in the programme called forth the services of thousands of women in the national struggle. And those services practically revolutionised women's role in Indian society. The change is but feebly indicated by the many laws that have recently been made and are being made to improve the status of men in society. Much progress has yet to be made in this direction. But so much have freedom and democracy become almost a matter of religion with the men and women of India that Mrs. Mehta's hope will certainly not provoke a smile among those who know anything about the present position of India.

We have said that much progress has yet to be made in improving women's status in India, and it is up to institutions like the All-India Women's Conference to help women to make good use of the educational and other opportunities that free and democratic India is bound to afford to them. Mrs. Mehta has reason to feel confident that the fifteen women elected to the Constituent Assembly will see that the new constitution makes no distinction on grounds of sex. There will be no such self-stultifying distinction even if there are no women representatives at all in the Constituent Assembly. But much depends upon how women seize the political opportunities that are sure to be offered to them by the constitution. Mrs. Mehta rightly insists that women must fight customs like the purdah and that the new state must pay special attention to the education of women. It has to be said with regret that large sections of Indian womanhood have not agitated enough against the purdah with the result that the women in those sections are extremely backward in secondary and higher education and have consequently been unable to make their full contribution to social and political service.

As regards women's education in general, it was sadly neglected till Provincial Autonomy was introduced. Then came the war. So it is that while the percentage of boys to male population in schools is now about 8, the corresponding figure for girls is only about 2.6. And a large number of girls stagnate in the lowest primary classes for years, are prematurely withdrawn from school and soon relapse into illiteracy. Such a state of things will continue till primary education is made compulsory for both boys and girls at least up to the age of twelve. We are glad to note that the Bombay Government has decided that in four years all the children between the ages of 6 to 11 in villages with a population of 1,000 and over and in all towns will come under compulsion. This is a fair beginning, considering that children under education for five years may be expected to be permanently literate and that a fair proportion of them, both boys and girls, will continue their education for some years even in the absence of compulsion. We hope it will not be long before the higher age limit is raised at least to 12 years. We trust too that a sufficiently large number of secondary or upper primary schools for girls will be opened so as to induce girls to continue their education even in the absence of compulsion. It must always be remembered that neither boys nor girls will be able to make the best use of their early schooling unless their mothers have had some education themselves. Nor can women without education make their full contribution to the service of the State. Finally, elementary education cannot be the success it is capable of being unless there is a large army of women teachers. Women's organisations should see to it that every Provincial Government provides a sufficiently large number of institutions to train women teachers.

"Planning The Countryside"

Last week we cordially welcomed the decision of Mr. L. M. Patil, Minister for Reconstruction, to hold district conferences throughout the province to formulate detailed schemes of reconstruction. And we emphasised the need for extensive preparatory work in collecting facts and figures about the present economic conditions of the different districts and their immediate and future needs and possibilities. This is very hard work but essential. We are happy to suggest that those engaged in the work will find much guidance not only in the last Government's booklets on schemes of reconstruction in selected parts of the province but also in the recently published book, "Planning the Countryside", by Radhakamal Mukerjee (Hind Kitabs, Bombay; pages 188; price Rs. 7-8). This book by one of the foremost economists of India and a prominent member of the National Planning Committee, is a comprehensive report on many-sided reconstruction in the countryside in Gwalior State and deals thoroughly with such varied subjects as irrigation, crop-plannings, targets for nutrition and agriculture, cattle improvement, erosion control, planned co-operation, reform of tenancy, liquidation of illiteracy, public health and sanitation and rural industries. Not the least important part of the book is that which deals with priorities for well-defined schemes according to their urgency, importance and cost. The whole book can be of great benefit to planners for other parts of the country. For we agree with the author that many of its schemes "may be adopted with little modification by other Provinces and States in India." The book also contains a large number of illustrations which are likely to appeal strongly to the common people and which therefore will be of great use for educative propaganda. We heartily commend the book to all those interested in scientific rural reconstruction.

Frankly Speaking

Butler Exposed

Mr. Frank Anthony has done well to refute the suggestion made by Mr. Butler at the Conservative Conference at Blackpool that the Anglo-Indian community was keeping itself aloof from other sections of the Indian people. The Tories by reason of their very nature desperately want to maintain British imperialist hold on India. Their speeches at Blackpool constitute an open confession of it. They are fighting a losing battle, indeed, a battle that has already been lost. People in such a situation resort to all sorts of malicious misrepresentation and distortion of truth. Mr. Butler's main purpose was to insinuate that the minorities including the Anglo-Indians were perturbed at the advent of a National Government and that they had no faith in the Congress, that in fact, they regarded the Congress as their tyrannical enemy. This is precisely the reverse of the actual truth and Mr. Anthony exposes it effectively.

Anglo-Indians' Duty

It is true that the Anglo-Indian community looked till now to Britain and the British for the protection and promotion of its interests in India. But it is even more true that, disillusioned now, they have realised that if they are in India as they must unavoidably be, they must also be of India and Indians. The Congress has made it possible for them to be so. Its generosity towards those, who after all are Indians, has brought a well-deserved recognition from Mr. Anthony. But what the Congress did was its elementary duty of re-assuring a section of India's population. It, however, involves a reciprocal duty on the part of the Anglo-Indian community not so much in response to what the Congress has done and is doing for them, as an expression of its patriotic obligation to the country. The community should reorientate its psychology in the sense that it should cease to think in terms of Indian patriotism merely as a protest against being let down by the British but because it is a part of India and belongs to India.

Dewey Outdoes Truman

Mr. Thomas Dewey, who was the 1944 Republican candidate for the Presidency against Franklin Roosevelt and who must help the Republicans in the November elections, has stolen or rather openly appropriated the thunder of President Truman. If the President, with the object of winning votes for Democrats, demands the entry of 100,000 European Jews into Palestine, Mr. Dewey, to win over the same votes, demands the entry of several hundred thousands at once. The question of the morality of such demands does not occur to either of these gentlemen. For, of course, they do not consider Arabs to be entitled even to any of the elementary democratic rights of a people and they regard the Arabs' homeland as the property of Americans, especially pro-Zionist Americans, to be disposed of as the fancies and interests of American politicians dictate.

The Ultimate Losers

The Arabs, however, are not going to surrender their homelands to outsiders. The menace is serious because it is threefold. American, British and Zionist. But they are preparing for it. They have warned both America and Britain that there will be trouble if Arab Palestine is betrayed any further. Indeed, that trouble seems imminent. The Palestine Jews, encouraged by America and determined to force the issue, have started "buying" lands and establishing Jewish settlements where they should not. The Arabs cannot allow that, whatever the British think about it. A grave crisis is impending and the storms that have been gathering may burst very soon. If that happens the whole Arab world will be involved. The Arabs will doubtless suffer grievous injuries. But let there be no mistake that the ultimate losers will be the Jews, Britain and America. And they will regret for long the loss that they will sustain.

Abolish The Dual System

A Plea To Cheapen Justice

(By C. B. L. BHATNAGAR)

The other day in an editorial note commenting upon the contemplated establishment of a Civil Court for Bombay City you were pleased to refer to the present unfortunate dual system which prevails in the Bombay High Court, whereby litigants on the original side are compelled by law to appear only through such advocates who are instructed by solicitors. Your comments were not only timely but they were directed to serve the best interests of the administration of justice in the city of Bombay and in my humble opinion much agitation and many sound arguments have been advanced by the members of the public through the newspapers for the abolition of the dual system.

THE UNFORTUNATE LITIGANT

The other day I found an unfortunate litigant, whose bones and blood had been eaten up by costs, moving about in the High Court premises with a placard hanging round his neck demanding similar relief, not for himself (for under the law he was past judicial relief), but for his fellow human beings, who come up to the High Court to obtain justice and get ruined in return. For a few days readers must also have noticed some painted boards hanging near the Bombay High Court in which an agitator against the present system has styled himself as "Fraud Fighter" and has endeavoured in his own inexperienced but frustrated way to cry out against the agony which, in the name of justice, has been caused to him through the mercies of our solicitors and the taxation of costs. The learned judges of the Bombay High Court must be simply feeling amused at this exhibition of dissatisfied litigants before their Court and have, I am sure, not touched their own human chord of fellow feeling to find out what judicial wrong has been caused to a human being in the name of justice

However, be that as it may, I wish through your esteemed columns to point out that I have myself been a litigant at the Bombay High Court and have suffered considerably. Had it not been due to my moral courage and conviction arising out of my sound moral position, the sufferings to which the solicitors put me would certainly have consigned me to a lunatic asylum because, where there is no appeal against injustice, one has simply to strike his head against stones and get killed. Frustration, where no wrong was done, is maddening.

HOW THE SYSTEM WORKS

The position in practice today at our High Court, briefly explained, is this. 'A' files a suit against 'B', and the matter comes up for hearing before 'C'. 'A' has engaged 'D' as his attorney; 'B' has 'E' as his attorney. Before the suit actually reaches a hearing, the bill of the solicitors of 'A' and 'B' reaches several thousands in each case, and when the suit is called, 'D' on behalf of 'A' engages 'F' as senior and 'G' as junior counsel; 'E' on behalf of 'B' engages 'H' as senior and 'K' as junior counsel. During the hearing of the suit, both D and E have no right to address the Court or to examine or cross-examine witnesses or parties. They simply sit 'instructing' counsel. Now, F and G of the one party and H and K of the other thrash out all matters in examination and cross-examination of the parties and their witnesses. All the while, C sits in solemn dignity, putting a question here or cracking a joke with a senior counsel there.

When the evidence is over, it falls to D and E to tell his Lordship C what the case is, what is the law, what are the rulings and what is the case Law. D and E on their part argue the case, tell his Lordship under what Law the client of one or the other loses or scores, cite instances of what other judges in similar matters in other courts with other parties had decided. The learned judge does not take the papers home; the learned judge does not study the relevant law; the learned judge does not labour at home or in Court to find out the legal rights of the one or the other. All the duties of the learned judge have been performed by the advocates and the learned judge has simply to pronounce judgment. I would venture to state that in such circumstances any man can perform the duties of a judge. In every single suit before our High Court greater weight and labour is given to the citation of rulings of other judges in other courts of India and the courts have become more of a debating society rather than tribunals of justice where attempts to ennoble human beings are made.

HOW THE COSTS ARE SHARED

In so far as the matter of costs is concerned, the High Court allows a party an amount of Rs. 135 for a Chamber Summons and Rs. 175 for a Notice of Motion. Mostly there are consent orders on these applications and it will be seen that in a chamber summons and notice of motion, the fees which are paid to counsel are normally 2 to 3 guineas, i. e., Rs. 30/- or Rs. 45/- and the balance is the property of the solicitors. The bills of costs which are taxed by the Taxing Master of the Bombay High Court run into several thousands for each party to a suit in small matters and it is on record that the costs in matters where the amount of the decree was Rs. 2,000/- or thereabouts only have reached from Rs. 30,000/- to Rs. 60,000/- for each party. Out of such exorbitant costs incurred by the parties, a very small fraction goes to the High Court in the shape of court fees, hearings and service of process, etc.

Your opinion that the establishment of the proposed Civil Court in Bombay where court fees will be paid "ad valorem" will be a hardship upon the litigant is absolutely true and genuine rights and claims of the parties can be lost simply because a party has insufficient funds to pay court fees on his claim before the Court. As a matter of fact, a system should be introduced whereby on all plaints before the Small Causes Courts a court fee of Rs. 5/- may be paid irrespective of the value of the suit and the present fee of Rs. 30/- on plaints before the High Court should continue even when the Civil Court is established.

AN APPEAL TO CHIEF JUSTICE

You have suggested that the presence of the Interim Government at the centre should be helpful to abolish this dual system. I may submit that the change can be brought about by amending Chapter II of the Bombay High Court Rules. The distinction between O.S. and other advocates should be removed. Rules 41 and 47 of the High Court Rules can be deleted and for the purpose of effecting the change, the learned judges of the Bombay High Court are fully competent under the law and the sanction of the local Government to implement that change will not be difficult.

I venture to hope that it will be possible for Sir Leonard Stone to create history in Bombay by abolishing the dual system forthwith. The engagement of attorneys may be made optional and even then I may state the solicitors will have a rich clientele. The poor and the middle classes will have a sigh of relief.

Brotherhood In Hinduism And Islam

(BY DR. M. HAFIZ SYED, PH.D., D. LITT.)

It is the common and well-known truth that is generally ignored and passed by and it is the obvious, the patent, and almost indisputable verity of life that is not kept in view, and so the brotherhood of man although intellectually recognised by all just and thoughtful people, is yet one of those subjects that are hopelessly ignored in ordinary life. There are many people existing in this world to whom the idea of the brotherhood of man has no meaning and foundation. Some of the leading men of the world, with all their culture and enlightenment, have done incalculable harm to and brought untold suffering on their fellow-beings by acting in a thoughtless manner and deciding the fate of the people under their charge in a way that has completely disregarded this deeply significant yet simple fact of our being. Religious dissensions and racial rivalries being the order of the day, some people still doubt whether the brotherhood of man has any basis in reality. On the other hand, there are some who believe that the brotherhood of man is a fact in nature and in all human relations, be they social, political, economic or religious. This fact should never be lost sight of, if we wish to make steady progress and live in concord and harmony. It is necessary that such an all-important proposition should be carefully examined and its merits ascertained.

The cry, 'I am an Englishman first and Christian afterwards' or 'I am an Indian first and Hindu afterwards' is not unoften heard, but it is rare to hear man declare that he is a human being first and everything else afterwards. With all our advanced scientific ideas, we are fond of having greater stress on the unessential features of our lives than on the essentinal and fundamental ones.

SPIRITUAL BASIS

The brotherhood of man has a deep spiritual basis. Its practical realisation constitutes the first and last words on the path of spiritual enlightenment. We may go to any highly advanced man of any faith or creed and we shall find him tolerant, loving and saturated with sympathy and goodwill for all. Brotherliness for all is a 'sine qua non' of spiritual development according to both ancient and modern mystics.

All religions without any exception believe in the fatherhood of God as the creator and source of all beings. If that be so, then the only logical conclusion that we can draw from this faith, is that all men are equal in the sight of God. As Sri Krishna says: "The same am I to all beings; there is none hateful to Me nor dear: they who worship Me with devotion they are in Me and I am in them."

The religions of the world aim at purifying the human heart and bringing it nearer to God; but people in their indifference, do not study their own faiths. This is why they act against them. I dare say, there is no religion in the world which has preached against the brotherhood of man, and as a proof of this statement, which might perhaps be doubted by some sceptics, I take the liberty of quoting from the various scriptures of the Hindus and the Muslims.

HINDU TEACHING

The oldest of the known religions of the world is Hinduism. All the sacred scriptures of this ancient faith contain clear and unmistakable references to the brotherhood of man. In the sixth chapter of the 'Bhagwad Gita' we read the following striking verses: "He who regards impartially lovers, friends, and foes, strangers, neutrals, foreigners and relatives—also the righteous and the unrighteous—he excelleth." In the third chapter, we read the following: "Having an eye to the welfare of the world also, thou shouldest perform action." "I, O conqueror of sleep, am the Self, seated in the heart of all beings." There are many other such shlokas.

In the 'Manu-Smriti' we read the following: "Hewho befriendeth all creatures, his name is Brahman". "He who thus seeth the Self in all beings, by his own self, he realises the equality of all, and attaineth to the supreme state of Brahman."

In the 'Katha Upanishad' (V. 10), we come across the following: "Thus one universal inner Self of all beings becometh one separate individual self for each form."

Again in the 'Isha Upanishad' read: 'He who seeth all beings in the Self and the Self in all beings,—he hateth no more."

In the 'Shanti-parva' of the Mahabharata, the following verse is most significant. "He who is the friend of all beings, he who is intent on the welfare of all in act and thought and speech—he only knoweth religion."

And in the 'Vishnu Purana; "knowing the Supreme to be in all beings, the wise extend love to all creatures undeviatingly."

TEACHING OF THE KORAN

The Holy Koran teaches: "To your parents show kindness and to kindred and orphans and the poor and the neighbour who is a kin and the neighbour who is a stranger and the companion who is stranger and the son of the road and what your right hand possesses (slaves). As for the orphan, oppress him not; and as for the beggar, drive him not away."

"O you who believe, let not one people or nation scoff or laugh at another people or nation per chance they may be better (in the eyes of God; i.e., possess greater potentialities of doing good) than the scoffers."

"And do not find fault with your own people nor call one another by nick-names; evil is a bad name after you have joined the brotherhood of Islam."

And the Prophet Mohammad said: "No man is a true believer unless he desireth for his brother that which not affectionate to God's creatures and to his own children, God will not be affectionate to him." He from the most favoured of God? He from whom the greatest good cometh to His creatures." "The best of men is he from whom good accrueth to humanity. All God's creatures are his family and he is the most beloved of God who trieth to do most good to God's creatures." "Feed the hungry and visit the sick and free the captive if he be unjustly confined. Assist any person oppressed, whether he be Muslim or non-Muslim; God enjoins you to treat women well for they are your mothers, daughters and aunts.' 'Do you love your Creator? Love your fellowmen first.'

And when on His last pilgrimage, He said: "Remember you are all brothers. All men are equal in the eyes of God. And your lives and your properties are all sacred; in no case should you attack each other's life and property. Today I trample under my feet all distinctions of caste, colour and nationality. All men are sons of Adam: and Adam was of dust."

KHALIFA OMAR'S CHARTER

The great Khalifa Omar renewed his charter in the following words: "I will make no invidious distinction between the red and the black between Arabs and non-Arabs and will follow the footsteps of the Holy Prophet."

From these quotations it is abundantly clear that none of great religions of India ever taught anything anti-humanitarnian or encouraged intolerance or persecution.

rupee has no significance for the present.

Even supposing that the above factors do not convince those who are for a change and for a direct linking, the Act provides that a member can change the par value even after it has once and/or twice communicated its decision to the Fund. Even it can make a drastic change in its face value, if the economic conditions so warrant. There is, therefore, no sanctity and no restrictions over the decision once made. Under the circumstances, I feel that at this stage we maintain the 'status quo.'

Commerce Graduates And Service Examinations

Sir,—As an Incorporated Accountant of 33 years standing as retired Commissioner of Income-Tax; as Ex-Secretary and Accountant, Bombay Improvement Trust; as ex-Lecturer in Accountancy at the Sydenham College of Commerce; as ex-Examiner to the Bombay University for Commerce Degrees, I came in contact with scores of Commerce Graduates, whom I found useful in the Accountancy Profession, in the Income-Tax Department and in the Improvement Trust, and I feel confident that they would equally prove useful also in other Government Department e.g. Customs, Excise, Accountant General's Office Reserve Bank, Port Trust etc. etc.

Commerce Graduates should be employed more freely by these Departments. They should also be allowed to appear for the I.C.S., P.C.S. Audit and Accounts Service and such other competitive examinations. Further, the syllabus of such examinations should include at least Accountancy and Commercial Law, if not other Commercial subjects. I may go a step further and say that Elementary Book-keeping should be included in the Syllabus of our Matriculation Examination.

OUR READERS' VIEWS

Goa Affairs

Sir,—In the issue of your paper dated the 18th instant you have published a letter under the heading "A Reply to Governor-General of Goa."

In the said letter a number of false charges is made which have already been denied and refuted by this office, that is why we shall only restrict this reply to the part in which your correspondent discusses the wages of the Army. Your correspondent says that "Luso-Indians who have joined the Army are paid at the same rate as a native sepoy."

As regards this point, we have to state that in the Army in Goa there is no distinction whatever and wages are not based on colour or caste. It is true that the Portuguese who come to Goa on service are paid higher wages, but this is irrespective of his being Portuguese or Luso-Indian. A Luso-Indian who joins the Army in Portugal and comes down to Goa on service will be paid the same wages as other Portuguese.

The proof can be verified from the fact that there some Luso-Indians in the Army here who are getting higher wages than those Luso-Indians who joined the Army in Goa.

Let The Citizens Help The Police

Sir—The citizens of Bombay, I am sure are tired of the unhappy state of affairs in this beautiful city. It is high time that a thorough check is put against the devil's freedom, and normal conditions restored.

The shameful killing of poor beggars pathwalas, hawkers, bhayyas and pathans and the pedestrians and poor mill-workers who are entangled in hostile localities on the course of their daily pursuits, must once for all cease. Why should anybody be stabbed stone or cudgelled for no crime of his? What does it pay anyone to reduce his poor neighbour's wife and children to miserable grief and destitution? The question of professing two different faiths or ideologies does not bring the two to clash and die. It is certainly very sad that people should lose their senses and allow the "Goondas" a free hand to kill, loot, burn, and destroy the city's life and property. It is still more appalling that even women and children are not spared by these bloodthirsty goondas. During these days of killing, God alone knows how many innocent women have been widowed and children reduced to destitution and beggary.

In spite of the active and stern vigilance of the Police and the military, bad news is surely there before you get up from your bed.

The citizens of all communities should realise their responsibilities. They should gather courage and co-operate and effectively. Let them rise to occasion and declare their determination to rid the city of the evil handing over the goondas to the authorities. If we do not see things in the proper light, and close our eyes to the wicked deeds of the murderers we would be contributing to our own suicide. Let every peace loving citizen, instead of murmuring with interrogations, "What! Where! How Many! and Whose!" and reducing himself to nervousness or embitterment, instead of croaking with a feeling of joy at the death or maiming of a fellow citizen of another faith, or sinking in apathy and feeling miserable when the news is otherwise let him close his eyes for a few minutes and search his own heart and question himself as to what sacrifice he has made in the interest of the City? We have a duty as citizens to strengthen the hands of the Police in improving Bombay's conditions, let us not forget it and prove ungrateful.

HASANSAB.

How To Deal With "Goondas"

Sir,—We have painfully witnessed "goondaism" flourish in our city. It is a blot on our civilisation. This is to be eradicated root and branch from our society so as to ensure decent and peaceful life to every citizen.

I as one citizen appeal to the Premier of Bombay the following method to cure "goondaism".

The Bombay Police have arrested more than 2,000 "goondas". I appeal and hope they will arrest more. These "goondas" should not be set free ever. A separate colony under strict guard should be started. There should be no religious distinction made among them. There should be a reformatory - school in the colony where they should be educated in which they should be taught that they have wronged society in a particular way and they be shown the right way to live.

In that colony should be agriculture and industry. They should produce food and cloth for themselves and the rest should be sold in the market which will meet the other expenses of the colony.

They should be in the colony for life, of course in addition to this there should be whipping as has already been suggested by the Premier.

Par Value Of Rupee

Sir,—It appears that a great sensation in commercial circles has been created by a press note issued the other day on the question of the par value of the Rupee. Personally I do not think at this stage the question should be given the importance it had assumed in 1927 over the 1-6 and 1-4 controversy. Under Article XX, Section 4(a) of the Bretton-woods Act, it has been laid down that each member shall communicate within 30 days of the commencement of exchange transactions the par value of its currency based on the rates of exchange prevailing on the 60th day before the entry into force of this agreement.

The par value of the member's currency shall be expressed in terms of gold as a common denominator or in terms of the United States dollar of the weight and fineness in effect on July 1, 1944. The idea behind fixing the par value of a country's currency is to promote exchange stability, to maintain orderly exchange arrangements with other members and to avoid competitive exchange alterations in accordance with the purposes of the Fund. Now supposing India today says that it has no desire to change the present arrangement subsisting between England and this country. Does it bind this country permanently under the Act, once it says so? The provisions under the Act are that a member can communicate to the Fund that the rate reported by it is not satisfactory and a change to the extent of 10 per cent can be made. Not only this, but even a further change of 10 per cent after discussing with the Fund can be made and the consent of the Fund obtained within 72 hours for such a change. If, however, a drastic change is to be made in the par value of the Rupee, then the Fund may either concur or object and shall be entitled to a longer period in which to declare its attitude. A member may change the par value of its currency without the concurrence of the Fund if the change does not affect the international transactions of members of the Fund. The Fund shall concur in a proposed change which is within the terms and conditions laid down. If it is satisfied that a change is necessary to correct a fundamental disequilibrium, provided it is so satisfied that the domestic, social or political policies of the member proposing the change necessitate a change.

Today the whole economic structure of the world is in an unstable and transitionary stage. The price structure which is the main criterion from which the par value is to be determined is changing everywhere. In Europe and America, the price index is rising higher and higher, as compared with the index during the war-period. In India, there will probably be a reverse process; and the process is likely to be accelerated with the new plans of the Interim Government. Unless, therefore, the factors which govern the price index, the tendency to the direction of markets and above all the articles that are to be imported and exported are studied in a settled state of affairs, it would be premature even to discuss this subject. Suggestions have been made that the rupee should be linked to gold. Already as a matter of fact, it has been provided in the Act and as referred to above, the par value of the rupee has to be communicated in terms of the United States Dollar of the weight and fineness in effect on 1st July 1944. There is a suggestion to de-link the rupee. This has also, I believe not much sense. We know now that the Dollar-Sterling rate is fixed and there is no intention to change this ratio. It is, therefore, not of great importance whether the rupee is linked to Dollar or Sterling. On the contrary I believe we have more affinity under the present circumstances with the Sterling than with the Dollar and the direct or indirect procedure of linking the

GREEK APPEAL FOR ARMS

British Response Not Yet Known: Sharp Political Controversy Over Issue

LONDON, Oct. 8, (Reuter): Greece with a "civil war" raging in the wilds of her northern provinces, has asked Britain for arms "for the improvement of the existing security arrangements," a Foreign Office spokesman disclosed in London today.

It is assumed that any arms supplied would be used to equip local reserves, called up in the threatened towns and villages, to fight "left-wing bands" which, according to reports from Greece, are not only holding out in the mountains but have seized small towns as well

At the moment Greece's request for arms was disclosed in London, the arrival was announced in Athens of General Dempsey, the British Commander-in-Chief, Middle East land forces, for a visit which an Athens cable said, "may have important repercussions."

No suggestion as to what these repercussions might be was given except a hold talks with high rankng British military officers on the re-organisation of British forces in the country as well as his announced purpose of receiving a decoration from King George of the Hellenes.

Meanwhile the Foreign Office spokesman in London confirmed that in his opinion the fighting in Greece can still be called a small-scale civil war despite the rigorous attempts by the Greek Government to suppress it since the return of the King to his Throne.

It is not yet known whether Britain will agree to the Greek request for arms but the appeal itself has alrady caused a sharp controversy among the politically-minded of the London public. Left-wing quarters sharply criticised it, while observers sympathetic to the Greek Government, claimed that the situation called for drastic remedies.

It was reported from Athens yesterday that King George had received in audience Lieutenant-General Kenneth Noel Crawford, C.-in.-C. British land forces in Greece and Sir Clifford Norton the British Ambassador.

MINISTER DEFENDS LABOUR OFFICERS

go to him, there was no reason to deprive them of the facility.

As far as the provisions relating to compulsory arbitration were concerned, Mr. Dange reiterated the view that the institution of arbitration was devised to kill the workers' right to strike and enforce a lower standard of living. He had no objection to voluntary arbitration because in that case the workers had a choice, but compulsory arbitration was anathema to him. He moved an amendment suggesting that Government might intervene to impose arbitration only when the workers approached Government with such a request.

That amendment gave Minister Nanda the completest handle for reply. He began by pointing out that compulsory arbitration was the pet aversion of Mr. Dange. It was also the pet aversion of the millowners who were implacably opposed to it. He knew the millowners were shrewed businessmen who knew which side their bread was buttered and Mr. Dange by putting forward a similar dmeand was plying into the hands of the owners. Mr. Nanda with effective logic pointed out that voluntary arbitration implied that the workers must get the consent of the owners. In that case, there was no need for Government intervention at all. It was only when they could not get the owners to agree, that they wanted Government to intervene and there could be no Government intervention unless it had powers to compel the parties to go to arbitration. Ultimately, it would seem that Mr. Dange really wanted compulsory arbitration but suggested a difference in procedure namely that Government should intervene only on request from the parties. He opposed this provision because it was likely to be unworkable and lead to delay.

Mr. Nanda also went on to point out that while he could understand opposition to compulsory arbitration if Government was determined to maintain the 'status quo', he could not understand it when the present Government wanted to ensure a living wage and in every way improve the condition of the workers

LAKE SUCCESS (New York) Oct 7. (Reuter): The United Nations Security Council in a closed meeting today considered the draft of a special report for the General Assembly on admission of new members It is understood that the amendments which were suggested were not controversial.

Belgium Exposes Paris Procedure

"Big Four" Recommendations Transformed Into Decisions!

PARIS, October 8. (Reuter)— The Paris Conference in the Plenary session today under the chairmanship of the Soviet Foreign Minister, M. Vyacheslaw Molotov, heard the Belgian, Polish and Greek delegates give their final views on the Draft treaties before it.

The first speaker, Dr. Paul Henri Spaak, (Belgium) challenged the procedure on which conference work was based-recommendations of the "Big Four", which he said "are virtually transformed into decisions before they have been discussed."

"The result" he declared, "is to paralyse any initiative or co-operation on the part of small States, as it is difficult and practically impossible to obtain a two-thirds' majority or even a simple majority if the 'Big Four' vote together.

"I hope and ask for a different procedure when we come to making peace with Germany and I am sure that others will demand it when we make peace with Japan", he added.

BEVIN DENIES SOVIET CHARGES

PARIS, Oct. 8 (A.P.A.): Mr. Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Minister, told the plenary session: "Unity was the foundation of our victory and must be the foundation of our peace."

Calling Trieste one of the prime disputes, Mr. Bevin said: "I confess there have been times when I had doubts." Bevin branded as unfounded Slav charges that Great Britain and the United States were trying to build a "Military Base in Europe", by making Trieste an International settlement rather than giving it out and out to Yugoslavia.

"We have no strategic interests in Trieste at all," Bevin said, "and I hope these unfounded allegations will never be repeated. We are firmly resolved that our victories at El Alamein shall not have been in vain."

Indonesian Republic Possible Within Dutch Realm: Press Optimism

THE HAGUE, Oct. 8 (Reuter): All Dutch newspapers give prominence to the discussions between the Dutch Commission-General and Indonesian Republicans at Batavia under the chairmanship of Lord Killearn.

The Liberal "Nationale Rotterdamsche Courant", borrowing Lord Killearn's phrase, says: "Where there is a will there is a way", while "Het Vrije Volk", Labour, quotes Lord Killearn's statement that "elements for success are present."

The "Nationale Rotterdamsche Courant" points to Vietnam in Indo-China to show that "human ingenuity has not yet reached its limit" and adds that it may yet be possible to have a 'de jure' acknowledged Indonesian Republic within the Dutch realm.

VAN MOOK'S TRIBUTE TO BR. EMPIRE

BATAVIA, Oct. 8 (Reuter): Dr. Hubertus van Mook, Lieut Governor-General of the Netherlands East Indies, to-day paid a tribute to what he called "the British Empire, established on its courage, grit and readiness to aid."

There was no reason to forget their gratitude and friendship for Britain because the British had failed "after years of incredible tension and exertion, to solve our difficulties for us as soon as peace had been restored", he told the Indonesian conference at Pangkal Pinang, on Banka Island, off the Northernmost Celebes.

No Improvement In Allahabad

ALLAHABAD Oct. 8 (UPI): The 24-hour curfew in Allahabad City had, it seems, little effect in quelling the disturbances.

As reported earlier there were stabbing incidents in the city, a victim whereof died in hospital.

It is reported that some persons entered forcibly the "Farden House" of Dr. K. N. Katju, Minister for Justice, U.P. Government, at Falori, and broke the glass panes and removed electrical fittings.

It is further reported that the district authorities sent a police force to Karadia, a suburb near the Jumna, on receipt of information that a mob had set fire to a hut of a "Sadhu" there.

MARKETS CLOSED

In spite of the Curfew being relaxed for two hours in the morning, from 6 to 8 a.m. and two hours in the afternoon from 4 to 6 p.m., economic life in the city had a serious setback. The daily market dealing in fish, vegetables and meat was almost closed resulting in the citizens going without their daily requirements. Even banks could not transact business because the employees could not come to their respective offices due to the curfew order, specially permits being issued in limited number.

With a view to cope with the riot menace, the Provincial Government, it is reported, have under consideration a scheme for recruiting special constables in Allahabad and other disturbed cities of the United Provinces. It is understood that these special constables will be posted at different areas of the city charged with the maintenance of law and order.

TOKYO NEWSPAPER STRIKE CONTINUES

It is rumoured that the Japanese Congress of Industrial Organisations will call a general strike of all its members on October 15 with the avowed object of unseating the Yoshida Government for its action today in taking over Radio Tokyo to broadcast news and weather.

"We are asked to believe that the government and court circles and ruling classes as a whole, except a few colonels and majors in the Kwantung army were against aggression.

Congress Ministry And Low-Paid Employees

PRICE-WAGE-PRODUCTION REAL REMEDY OF RELIEF

(BY "ECONOMICUS")

When the popular Government replaced the dictatorial Section 93 regime in this province some months ago, it brought to the surface the long-suppressed and frustrated hope that it would initiate an era of substantial relief, if not prosperity, to the small man in the ranks of low-income group employees and pensioners.

PROGRESSIVE APPROACH

Partly as a result of this widespread conviction and partly on account of the process of restoration of the machinery of expression of the popular will, the Government has been overwhelmed by an avalanche of requests, demands and wails for amelioration of the misery that war and wartime conditions brought to millions.

The Government has since published the programme of labour and social policy which is certainly progressive in character. Further the Prime Minister Kher publicly expressed his solicitude for the low-paid employee and gave an assurance that his government would adopt all necessary measures to extend relief to him.

What are the prospects of this relief? Immediately, the Government translated its policy by increasing the flat rate dearness allowance rates by Rs. 4 which neither the Government of India nor any other provincial government has so far done. It has in fact given a lead to the other governments and thus indirectly benefitted low-paid employees throughout the country. It has also made various concessions to the small-income group employees like primary school teachers and sweepers and generally shown readiness to consider their demands with unusual sympathy

But all this can have the effect not merely of limited and, considering the impact of increased cost of living on small incomes, inadequate relief but of aiding the disastrous process of inflation. The low-paid employees and pensioners who are asking for increased cash allowances and pay have clearly no idea that these apparent gains are no real gains.

In their case as well as in the case of labour which is employing its bargaining power for backing up demands for increased wages, the real element of gain is increased purchasing power which is related to the cost of living increased by about 250 per cent over the pre-war level.

NO REAL GAIN

The wage-price relationship is vividly highlighted by the brilliant labour statistician, Jurgen Kuczynski, in his latest publication, 'A Short History of Labour Conditions in the British Empire: 1800 to the Present-day' (Frederick Muller, London, 8s. 6d.). One of his tables in his study of this province's labour conditions is worth reproduction:

MONEY WAGES COST OF LIVING AND REAL WAGES.
(1900-100)

Years	Money Wages	Cost of Living	Real Wages
1880-89	87	69	127
1890-99	94	85	112
1900-09	107	97	111
1910-19	135	143	98
1920-29	211	207	103
1930-38	184	143	129

This means that real wages have increased by just 2 p.c. as against the apparent wage increase of over 200 p.c. while labour's productivity and intensity have increased tremendously as evidenced by figures of increased output and number of accidents in factories. The figures incidentally expose as fraudulent the claims and pretensions of the mill-owners who are justifying increase in prices of low-grade textiles on the plea that shorter hours and increased wages affect employers.

What is true of labour is true generally of other wage-earners also even if their wages were called salaries. The war and practically complete absence of organised collective bargaining have ruined the salaried class in this country. And while Organization of collective bargaining is expected to redeem this situation to some extent, it is necessary that they should fully understand the real factors of their present day plight and demand not increase in pay and allowances for meeting high cost of living but basic reduction in the cost of living itself.

CHECK INFLATION.

The Government itself must, despite the difficulties that undoubtedly are as formidable as they are the result of the ruinous 'war effort' policies and the short-sightedness and folly of the previous regimes, concentrate on checking price inflation. The fact that, under the existing conditions, any organized effort of anti-inflation measures must be well-co-ordinated and the Central Government must initiate the broad policy should not come in the way of economic stabilization in the province.

The Government can and should concentrate on price-wage stabilization on a province-wide basis with strong measures not merely of price-control but intensive production. There is an organised campaign carried on by various pressure groups for relaxation of controls which are blamed for the high prices. As a matter of fact, there has never been a really efficient or useful system of price-control. The war-time controls enabled big operators and business interests to pile huge profits and the Government shared them and thus aided in bringing ruin and misery to millions in this country.

PRICE-WAGE EQUILIBRIUM.

To-day the trade, industry and business pressure groups as well as their victims are intensifying their pressure on the popular Government which is called upon to face the task of tidying up the mismanaged affairs in the sphere of economic stabilization. They must now concentrate on stabilization of prices through improved and necessarily controlled production by limiting profits and cutting out the extravagance and waste in management of industry and thus reducing wages through vigorous price-control.

Wages can be reduced only when prices and the general cost of living are brought down. And when prices come down the purchasing power of the wage or salary earner is automatically increased. What the low-paid employee and pensioner must demand is not increased pay or amount of pension—which bring them no real relief—but reduction in the cost of living with reasonable liberalization of pay and pension. If the present ruinous cost of living is reduced the necessity for increased wage or salary automatically disappears.

Attlee Pleads For International Contrc Of Atomic Energy

LONDON, Oct. 8. (Reuter): Opening a debate on atomic energy in the House of Commons today, the Prime Minister, Mr. Clement Attlee, said the British Government hoped that the United Nations' Commission on atomic energy would find an effective solution to remove the fears of mankind which had been aroused.

"I do not think that awareness is as acute here as on the other side of the Atlantic", he declared. "But it is the firm intention of the British Government to do its utmost to get an agreed scheme and co-operate fully when that scheme is agreed."

Whether the United Nations Commission agreed or not in getting a solution, it was hoped that prohibition for military uses might be secured, he added.

Mr. Attlee, who was moving the second reading of the Bill to give the Government exclusive control over development of atomic energy in Britain, said one of the objects of the bill was that Britain should be prepared to fulfill its full part in any international scheme.

Mr. Attlee said that until there was international control, what was sometimes called the industrial "know how" must be kept under control.

easiness among political observers today but did not seriously diminish their faith in the ultimate achievement of a Congress-League pact, says the Associated Press of India.

Firstly, Mahatma Gandhi's reference to the Delhi talks lacked the bracing positive quality of yesterday's declaration that the conversations had led to hope of a settlement. The prolongation of the talks was the second factor which tended to moderate undue enthusiasm. Thirdly, Pandit Nehru and Mr Jinnah did not meet to-day as expected. Instead, the Nawab of Bhopal resumed his role as interpreter and inter-mediary between the Congress and League camps, whose spokesmen he had brought together on two earlier occasions.

Informed opinion, nevertheless, continued to support the expectation that an agreed announcement may be made on Thursday or Friday. The Nawab of Bhopal indicated to-day that definite outcome of the negotiations would be announced in two or three days. It is believed that to-day's prolonged conferences were meant to settle the terms of this announcement, which has been drafted but is undergoing changes as a result of continuing discussions.

Uncertain Future

Mahatma Gandhi addressing his prayer meeting this evening said that if they wanted peace from the depths of their hearts and had faith in God they should all pray earnestly that the Congress and Muslim League negotiations may end successfully so that those who were to-day behaving as barbarians may be brought back to civilization. Whatever way of fire Europe or any other part of the world followed, he never wanted Indians to sink to the level of the brute.

He could not give them any news to-day nor could anyone tell what the future held in store. It may be that God wanted them to suffer more. If that was their lot they must endure it.

But they should remember that the actions of Man were significant of the condition of his mind. The audience before him were a mere drop in the ocean of Indian humanity, but if everyone wanted to live at peace with his brother the Congress and Muslim League had to come together.

It was true that the Viceroy had to take orders from the British Cabinet in England, but all the same he was an autocrat. Their leaders, however, were the people's men who had to do the people's will. Therefore, Gandhiji exhorted them all to pray to God to purge their minds of all anger and hatred and give wisdom to the leaders so that India may have unity and freedom.

Once they ceased to quarrel and kill each other they would be free and in Independent India there was much to be done. To-day they were foodless and naked; bribery and corruption and black-marketing were rife. All these must go and then they could get together and build the new order that they wanted in India.

Not Optimistic

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 8. (Reuter): Sir Henry Twynham, the retiring Governor of the Central Provinces, who arrived at Liverpool to-day, told "Reuter" that he was not optimistic about an early settlement of the Indian problem.

Sir Henry also said that it had been estimated that the Calcutta riots had caused more than 40,000 casualities rather than the 4,000 officially stated.

"It is within my knowledge that at least 4,000 dead were counted in the streets of Calcutta and I believe more than that number was thrown into the Hoogly river", he added.

LEAGUE EXECUTIVE

NEW DELHI, Oct 8 (API): The Working Committee of the All-India Muslim League met again at 10-45 a.m. today at Mr. Liaqat Ali Khan's residence.

The Committee considered points from Mr. Jinnah's talks with Pandit Nehru and adjourned at 11-45 a.m. to meet again tomorrow evening at 6.

Off My Chest

Almost every day among the Public Notices, I read of individuals who have applied for naturalisation as British subjects and whose application is under consideration at the Home Department. A great number of these individuals aspiring to British —which is presumably British Indian —Nationality are either German or Stateless (formerly German). The individuals say that if anyone has any objection to such naturalisation, they should send their representation to the Home Department.

I am not concerned with individuals so much as the basis on which the Home Department will arrive at a decision whether to grant naturalisation or not.

There have been in India, several Germans with definite Nazi leanings who (from reports received by me) appear to be quite free and unfettered in this country. I have before me, as I write, a whole list of ex-top-ranking Nazis who appear to be going about this place as if the place belonged to them. There is at least one personal friend of Hitler, who has been at large for quite some time.

The Home Department may not know how to decide whether a man was a Nazi or not. It is very easy. In the possession of the Swiss Consulate in India, there should be a list of Germans to whom during the war, a benefit of Rs. 40 per month was doled out. This money came from the German Government and was handled by the Swiss Consulate because Switzerland was a neutral country. The men and women who received the benefit swore to be faithful to the Fuhrer and the Reich. They were Nazis.

There are German Nazis who still have their belongings worth thousands of pounds left untouched and in one case the property of the German General Staff is in the hands of an individual, who is sent free

I know some of these Germans who now cringe for British Nationality. So many of them have, while enjoying the hospitality of this country, looked down upon its people, cursed the country and spat on it. To these Germans and Austrians and Poles, Indians were "niggers".

There is going to be a hell of a row in this country, if the Home Department of the Government of India now extends British nationality to persons like these. I feel that the Home Department should appoint a special committee to inquire into this naturalisation racket which is spreading very fast. No naturalisations should be given until some principle is laid down regarding this. A copy of the list of Germans which is with the Swiss Consul should be perused. The public should have an opportunity of knowing what Germans swore to be faithful to Hitler and his Reich.

This matter needs the urgent attention of the Home Government. Thorough as an organiser, Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel can be relied upon to stop those who were anti-democratic and anti-Indian to become British-Indian subjects.

Failing quick action, it will become necessary for someone to take the matter up in the Assembly and make it a public issue.

I am reluctant to give names, nor is it my business as a columnist, to furnish Government with details. The Home Department, which will be relieved of the task of trailing Congressmen, can easily devote its energies to checking up on Nazis.

Also may I ask why British Nationality is being doled out in India? Why don't these men go to Britain and get British nationality over there?

DEADLOCK IN CHINA AGAIN!

Communist General Rejects Proposal For Truce

NANKING, Oct. 8 (A.P.A.): Communist General Chou en Lai to-day rejected the latest proposal for a 10-day truce in China's civil war. Earlier reports said the American Mediator, General George Marshall, had put forward a Truce proposal and was awaiting General Chou en Lai's response.

A Communist spokesman said that General Chou en Lai's reply was delivered to the United States Ambassador, Dr. Leighton Stuart this morning. He added that it termed the Truce proposal merely a Government effort to stop the war for regrouping its armies.

All efforts to end the civil war were reported to be at complete deadlock.

Skirmish In Sheikhpura

MONGHYR, Oct. 7. (API): One person was killed and another injured as a result of police firing in village Sheikhpura, in this district on October 5.

It is reported that, immediately after the Durga Puja immersion ceremony hostile Hindu-Muslim crowds gathered on wayside field threatening a breach of the peace. After an ineffective warning the police fired eight rounds under the order of the S.D.O and the situation was brought under control

Bharat Rubber Works Ltd.

A summary of the prospectus of Bharat Rubber Works Ltd., is published elsewhere in this issue. It was to explore the vast possibilities of rubber industry in India that the Bharat Rubber Works, Ltd., came into existence in 1938 as a private limited company, with Japanese technical personnel, as temporary covenanted hands to run the factory. This enterprise, met with splendid success in the very year of its inception. The products of the company, tyres, tubes, brakes, pedals, hospital goods, ebonites, etc. placed in the market were of such high quality that in the second year of its existence, the company started exporting its goods to meet the growing demand for them in the foreign countries. In 1940, working in collaboration with the Board of Scientific and Industrial Research, Government of India and under the guidance of Sir S. S. Bhatnagar, it was able to manufacture the right kind of material required for identity discs, so urgently needed by authorities.

The revised ceiling prices of different varieties of imported paper which were to come into force on August 15, 1946, but were postponed by one month, have further been postponed by one month i.e. from September 15 to October 15, 1946.

ARABS WARN BRITAIN

Subservience To U.S. Policy Will Prove Disastrous

LONDON, Oct. 8 (Reuter).—The Palestine Arab Higher Committee will investigate the conditions under which sale was "effected" to the Jews of Arab land in Southern Palestine where the Jewish National Land Fund yesterday staked out 12 new Jewish settlements in the districts of Hebron, Gaza and Beersheba. Doctor Hussien Khalidi, Secretary of the Committee said in Jerusalem last night.

Musa Bey Alami, Director-General of Arab offices (an information organisation sponsored by seven independent Arab States of the Arab League), said in London on the eve of his departure for Palestine: "There are grounds for believing that certain British military circles have allowed themselves to be persuaded that this is a moment for the British to "talk tough" to the Arabs and that 'a strong policy' backed by a threat of military force would be successful."

He added: "It is my earnest conviction that the British Government would make a profound mistake if they acted on this assumption and allowed themselves to be persuaded by this American inspired opinion or encouraged in the same direction by any of the friendly and pacific utterances they may have heard from certain Arab leaders."

PASSION FOR JUSTICE

Musa Bey Alami added: "Among those responsible for creating this impression are certain Americans in the Middle East who pose as experts in Arab affairs and who seem to have timed their activities in the present matter to synchronise with and help their President's electioneering stunt. It may also be that these military circles feel that the presence of large British forces in the Palestine-Iraq-Egypt triangle provides the necessary basis of force for such a policy.

"It is true that the Arabs are peace-loving and desire peace in Palestine and friendship with Britain. It is also true that the Arabs do not possess armoured divisions or fleet or aircraft. But they do possess passion for justice and freedom and a high sense of national dignity and honour. They have often shown that they possess determination to vindicate these ideals at any cost. It is essential that the British Government should be alive to these truths.

"The present moment offers a great opportunity which may not last indefinitely for the establishment of Anglo-Arab relations on the basis of true friendship and co-operation. The Arabs are stretching their hand to Britain and sincerely hope she will take it. It would be a very great pity if Britain did not respond in the same spirit."

CROSS PURPOSES

Responsible diplomatic quarters in Washington disclosed that President Truman is at cross purposes not only with the British Government but also with his own State Department over his recent renewed support of immediate Jewish immigration into Palestine. State Department officials tend to sympathise with the view expressed in the British Prime Minister Mr. C. Attlee's confidential note to President Truman over the week-end that the President might have taken steps to make himself better acquainted with the reasons for the temporary adjustment of the London Conference on Palestine before "writing it off" so summarily.

An important pre-election statement by the combined Zionists organisation of New York will be issued in a few days, it was learned reliably in New York last night. The statement will show whether powerful Jewish bodies are satisfied with President Truman's statement.

50 Men Hold Monopoly Of City's Meat Supply

The butchers of Bandra are on strike! For nearly a week these killers of animals, have declared truce with sheep, goats, cows, bullocks and other animals, who serve the needs of Bombay's meat-eaters.

The reason for the strike is simple. The butchers resent the fact that the Bombay Municipality has raised the slaughter fee from as. 3 to as. 4 per animal with effect from the 1st. instant.

The present strike has brought into sharp relief the helplessness of the Bombay Municipality, when confronted with the combined operations" of licensed butchers. They do not seem to have any alternate arrangements, by which the city's meat supply can be kept going.

The meat trade of Bombay is in the hands of a small group of fifty men, who are licensed to kill the animals. Among them, is a still smaller group of three to five men, who are the party bosses and their word is law at the Bandra abattoir.

From reliable enquiries it is learnt that they not only control the slaughter, but also the import of animals into the city. The main source of the city's supply is from Rajputana, where a sheep or goat is normally sold at Rs. 6 or 7.

In Bombay it is sold for Rs. 20 to Rs. 25 each.

The strike has revealed that the export from Rajputana are entirely controlled by this small combine of Bombay's butchers.

A high official of the Bombay Municipality, whose opinion was elicited in this connection, said that he would not be surprised if some of Bombay's butchers were fabulously rich. They usually slaughtered about 3,000 sheep a day, and even if each head yielded a profit of only Rs. 5 the total profit per day was in the vicinity of Rs. 15,000.

This yielded an average of Rs. 300 a day per butcher, provided all butchers divided profits impartially or about Rs. 10,000 per month!

The Bombay Municipality cannot be charged with profiteering at the expense of their slaughter house. They charge only two annas while the animal is kept in the slaughter house and these two annas covers, feed for 48 hours, cleaning, lighting and watering of the place.

The increased fee of as. 4 per animal for slaughtering facilities, includes lighting, anti and post-mortem examination of animals, and free transport to Bombay, from Bandra.

It is difficult to say that there is any profiteering in this.

The charge of various prices ranging from Rs. 1-4-0 to Rs. 2 per pound of mutton, and periodic strikes make it incumbent on the Bombay Municipality to make some alternate arrangements, whenever the butchers decide to starve the meat-eating sections of the city.

The Bombay Municipality should open another slaughter house near some such suitable place as Devnar and see that the killing of animals is done on more scientific and humane lines.

PRESS ADVISORY COMMITTEE FOR FRONTIER

Information Minister Warns Newsmen Against Licentiousness

PESHAWAR, Oct. 7 (A.P.I.): Mr. Mehrchand Khanna, Minister of Finance and Information N.W.F.P. has issued the following statement:

Shortly after assuming office I made a statement in the Assembly on Frontier Government's policy with regard to press. In it I expressed Government's desire to see a healthy strong and free press grown in N.W. F.P.

I watched reactions of the press for some time but I was sorry to observe that very few newspapers in the province had paid any heed to my words. On the other hand some of them have resorted to further dangerous activity and have even started publishing news items not borne out by facts. This sort of thing cannot be allowed to go on. It must be clearly understood that Government will not sit quietly and let the mischief makers work up communal strife and disturbance in the province. I, therefore, appeal to the press for the last time to stop publishing inflammatory articles and news forthwith and not to force the hands of the provincial government to take action either under the Press Act or other emergency powers.

I propose to establish a press advisory committee in the province who will be composed of representatives of newspapers and non-officials. It is hoped that this committee whose advice the Government will seek on matters relating to the press will also exercise proper influence on newspapers and bring about much needed reform of Frontier press. The personnel of the committee will be announced shortly.

COTTON MARKET RECORDS SMALL RISE ON COVERING

Bullion Prices Improve After Early Realising

Bombay, Oct. 8

The Bombay Stock Exchange opened steady to-day and fluctuated within a narrow range awaiting further developments.

Encouraging Delhi advices were mainly responsible for the opening gains but in the absence of any important business quotations fluctuated within a narrow range.

Professional operators are not aggressive and outside business has dwindled down considerably. Thus we have mostly jobbing business which result in narrow movement.

The present steadiness is viewed by some observers as a natural outcome after the drastic drop and they look for lower levels in the long run. On the other side some professional operators confidently look for a good rise on the theory that the last decline was due to unduly large weak long interest near the top of the market. However the decline has left some lasting impressions and those who were caught will not like to re-enter the market for a long time.

Tata Steel Defds opened at Rs. 3040 and after declining at Rs. 3032 steadied at Rs. 3040. Ordinary shares opened at Rs. 540 and improved at Rs. 541. Bombay Dyeing shares opened at Rs. 3075 and steadied at Rs. 3080. Kohinoors were very steady and after opening at Rs. 970 improved at Rs. 973.

The market ruled steady and Tata Steel Defds closed at Rs. 3040. Ordinary shares were placed at Rs. 542. Bombay Dyeings were done at Rs. 3090. Kohinoors were quoted at Rs. 971. Central Banks were done at Rs. 135/8 and Imperials fully paid were placed at Rs. 2865. Scindia shares improved at Rs. 50/4 and Associated Cements were done at Rs. 246/8. The market closed steady.

BOMBAY COTTON

BOMBAY, Oct. 8

The local cotton market opened steady today and improved on encouraging Delhi advices but the improvement attracted scattered selling. Trading was restricted and quotations moved within a narrow range.

The immediate of raw cotton remains less optimistic. It has been proved beyond doubt that the interest of Indian cotton growers is sacrificed but the government remains firm in their measures under the plea of shortage of cloth. Indian mills have never raised their finger against the glaring mistake of the Government.

The market opened today at Rs 435 for farming delivery and the opening was one rupee over last close. This was due to encouraging political news from Delhi and under scattered buying January improved at Rs. 435/8.

At this level there was renewed selling and January declined at Rs. 434/8 but rallied at Rs 435/4 on moderate support.

Thereafter there was increased buying and January contract advanced at Rs 437/4 but reacted at Rs. 436/4 on scattered realising.

The market advanced at Rs. 438 for January but some realising again appeared and January stood at Rs. 436/8. The market finally closed at 3-30 p.m. as under:

ANTHONY'S LETTER TO BUTLER

BLACKPOOL SUGGESTION REFUTED

NEW DELHI, Oct. 7 (API).—Refuting the suggestion made by Mr. Butler at the recent Conference of Conservatives at Blackpool that the Anglo-Indian community were keeping themselves aloof from other sections of the Indian people, Mr. Frank Anthony, President of the Anglo-Indian Association, today released the full text of his letter to Mr. Butler.

Mr. Anthony says: "I address you with regard to the serious disservice done to the Anglo-Indian community by the Cabinet Mission and the continuing policy of the British Administration apparently directed to destroy the future of the Anglo-Indians in India.

"In spite of the fact that, shortly before the Cabinet Mission arrived in India, the Sapru Committee, consisting of the most eminent Indians, recommended a seat for the Anglo-Indian community in the future Indian Cabinet and also specific representation in a Constituent Assembly, the Cabinet Mission wantonly took away from the Anglo-Indians the recognition which we had secured with difficulty from the Indian leaders.

"Our position in India has been made difficult merely because of our past services to the British Administration. We naturally thought, therefore, that the British Ministers would welcome the recognition which the community had been able to secure from the Indian leaders. Instead the British Ministers and the present Viceroy seem to have been inspired by almost deliberately malicious motives in singling out the Anglo-Indians for political and consequent economic extinction.

DESPITE CONGRESS WILLINGNESS

"The first disservice which the Cabinet Mission rendered to my community was to exclude us completely from the Constituent Assembly. Thank God, this terrible disservice has been remedied by the Congress Party which, unlike the British, had good reason to hold that the Anglo-Indians had been hostile. The Congress have enabled us to secure with their votes two seats in the Constituent Assembly. In addition, I have been returned to the Constituent Assembly exclusively on the votes of the Anglo-Indian M.L.A.'s in Bengal.

"The next and crowning disservice was the deliberate exclusion by the mission and the Viceroy of the Anglo-Indian community from the Interim Government. Surprisig though it may seem, the Congress had made a request to the Viceroy that an Anglo-Indian should be included in the Interim Government in preference to a Parsi, as we are more numerous than the Parsis and the latter had representation in the Governmnt on previous occasions. The Viceroy, however, saw fit to ignore this recommendation of the major political party and selected Sir N. P. Engineer, although he happend to be a servant of the Crown.

"In the negotiations covering the formation of the present Interim Government, the Congress did everything possible to secure a seat for the Anglo-Indian community. They emphasised the fact that since they had been asked to form the Government there was no need to adhere to the formula of June 16. Namely, six : five : three. They wanted the number increased to 15 in order to include an Anglo-Indian. When this was turned down by the Viceroy they submitted a list of 14 members which included my name. This also was turned down by the Viceroy. The Congress made it clear that as soon as the Muslim League indicated its willingness to join the Interim Government the formula of six : five : three would be reverted to, and there was therefore no point in excluding an Anglo-Indian at this stage, by rigid adherence to this formula.

"History will find it almost impossible to produce a parallel instance where representatives of a particular nation have gone out of their way to destroy a community, fighting for its rights against tremendous odds for whose existence that nation has been responsible.

"Our bitterness at the deliberate disservice done to us by the Cabinet Mission and the Viceroy is steadily increasing. Our task of surviving in the future India has been made a thousand times more difficult by the Cabinet Mission's awards and more particularly by the present Viceroy's insistence on excluding us from a position in the Interim Government. We at least did not expect this unwarranted betrayal."

Final Dividend On Tata Hydro Shares

Bombay, Oct. 7.

The Tata Hydro-Electric Power Supply Co. Ltd. one of the suppliers of electricity to Bombay city, sold about 10 million units less of energy in 1945-46 than the previous year's record sale of nearly 206 million units, it was disclosed at the company's annual general meeting here to-day.

The company's directors attributed the reduction in sales to (1) the transfer of the Ghat Section Railway load to the Chola Power Station from December 1, 1946, (2) a slight reduction in general industrial demands following the cessation of hostilities and (3) reduction in the aggregate electricity consumption of the textile mills owing to labour unrest during the second half of the fiscal year.

However, the company's net profit increased by 30.3 per cent or Rs. 5,57,148. This was reported to be due to lower purchases of auxiliary power and reduced war risks insurance payments.

The company declared a dividend of 7 per cent on the preference shares and a final dividend of 4 1/2 per cent on ordinary shares, both free of income-tax.
